O R D E R:

Section 4 of the Cattle -trespass Act, 1871, lays down that pounds shall be established at such places as the Magistrate of the District, subject to the general control of the State Government from time to time directs. The Government have examined the question whether the Collector (as the ~~District~~ District Magistrate) need obtain the sanction of the Government as to the place at which he decides to open a new cattle pound. Section 4 of the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871, does not require the District Magistrate to obtain the previous approval of the State Government before establishing cattle pounds in his district. The District Magistrate's power under section 4 is only subject to the general control of the State Government. The Board of Revenue is informed that the Collector (as the District Magistrate) need not therefore obtain the sanction of the Government as to the Place at which he decides to open a new cattle pound but that it is necessary for him to obtain it only for the construction of a cattle pound building the estimated cost of which exceeds Rs 2,000/- the limit prescribed in Article 22 of the Special Funds Code.

2. In the light of the orders in para 1 above, the approval of the Government is not necessary to the proposal in para 2 of the Board's Ref.dated 28.7.1951 read above for the opening of a cattle pound permanently in Ukkadai village of Papanasam Taluk, Tanjore district.
